

Privacy Policy

A placeholder privacy notice for the InstAlert commercial SaaS product.

Information we handle

InstAlert may process account details, business information, user contact details, location-related alert information, and activity needed to provide the subscribed service.

How information is used

Information is used to operate the platform, route relevant security alerts, support subscribed businesses, maintain service reliability, and improve product performance.

Your responsibilities

Business administrators should invite only authorized staff, keep account credentials protected, and avoid entering sensitive information that is not needed for an alert or support request.

Questions

Contact LosIncreiblesCorp through the official contact channel listed on the InstAlert website for privacy questions or requests.

This document is provided by LosIncreiblesCorp for InstAlert subscribers and visitors. Replace this placeholder policy content with approved legal or support copy before publication.